

DEDICATED FOLLOWER OF FASHION

Aunt Jeana is my godmother, and when I was young I thought she was a very tall lady who was always dressed immaculately. I always thought she was very fashionable and pretty.

I remember after one of the dinner parties Mum and Dad used to have, there were some holes discovered in the linoleum below the dining room table. Indications were that this was where Aunt Jeana was sitting. In the day, must have been the 60's, Aunt Jeana was known for wearing quite pointed heel stiletto shoes and Mum reckoned that this was what caused the holes. They remained in the floor until that room was carpeted many years later. Should give Aunt Jeana a laugh to think that she had left her mark on the dining room floor without knowing!

Aunt Jeana always seemed to be impossibly glamorous with countless outfits and accessories - even her casual gear was up to date. I remember two particular outfits - the first one was a candy pink and white checked dress with a skirt that went WAAAY out. Aunt Jeana let me choose her outfit for the day, and after going through what seemed like hangerfuls of silks and satins, that was the one she wore for me. And then there was her fur coat. I remember Aunt Jeana hugging me on the day of my Mum's funeral and being strangely comforted by its familiarity.

I wonder if my love for shoes stems from Aunt Jeana, as she takes such pride in her appearance, and in earlier days I know had some impressive pointy shoes.

Bright lipstick and nail varnish, and being totally transfixed by this beautifully-dressed lady with the marvellous shoes.

Annette

Aunt Jeana was the aunt who wore nail varnish and had a dressing-table covered in lipsticks etc.

Aunt Jeana does love her Estée Lauder make up. Mum and I had quite a search to find her favourite lipstick recently!

Alison

Aunt Jeana and Uncle Bob were always so well-dressed and smart, Aunt Jeana so fashionable, with many outfits finished off with a wee hat. Her fur coat stands out in my mind.

When I got into my teens, Aunt Jeana and I would go shopping for my Christmas, usually a very nice outfit to wear for Christmas Day. Yes, I was very definitely spoilt!

Joyce

I remember Aunt Jeana taking me shopping, on quite a few occasions with Mum. You'd have to watch her like a hawk, as before you knew it she'd have an armful of goodies to buy you which Mum said she wasn't to buy.

Helen remembers shopping for a coat with Aunt Jeana's help, which she still owns.

I remember when I was young, being fascinated by Aunt Jeana smoking, as I did not really know anyone else, or certainly wasn't aware of them smoking. She made it appear very glamorous. Anyway, needless to say, I never heeded her advice to never start when I was older!

Angus

I only remember seeing my Mum smoke once - in the drawing-room at Lynedoch. I was shocked. You could always depend on Aunt Jeana to lead her astray!
